EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Shipping.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Arrived—ship Humboldt, San Francisco. During the passage, Wm. Ericson, carpenter, was drowned.

Bank Suspended.

PITTSVILLE, Pa., March 28.—The Ashland savings bank suspended yesterday.

To Resume Work.

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN, Pa., March 28.—All the car builders, examiners, etc., members of the M. E. and B. A., who were suspended at and around this point, will resume work to-morrow morning for the Philadelphia and Reading road.

A Virginia Senator Expelled for Contempt.

RICHMOND, March 28.—The Senate to-day by a vote of 24 to 9, adopted a resolution recommended by the committee on privileges and election, expelling Senator G. W. Graham for alleged complicity in the sale of the Schoolcraft naval cadetship. The point was raised that it would require two-thirds or 29 of all the other members elected to expel, and the matter being a grave one, the chair declined to decide at once, but reserved decision.

American Tract Society Anniversary.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The fiftieth anniversary of the American Tract Society was celebrated this evening at the First Baptist church, and their reports showed that during the past fifty years more [illegible] publications have been issued, and of these more than half a million were volumes. During the past year twenty-two colporteurs were employed, who visited more than 140 (?) families. The cost of this work has been about $50,000. Grants have been made to the number of 63,000,000 pages and to the value of $45,000; gifts of printed matter [illegible] distribution have been made to the amount of $105, and of cash and plates to be used in printing at mission stations to the value of $7,000. More than 40,000 publications have been issued abroad, in 143 languages, and since the formation of the society it has exported more than $60,000 in company with the American missions.

The Ice Freshet.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 28.—The water has risen three feet on Kingston flats since yesterday, and communication by foot is again cut off; but there has been made in the gulches. At the same rates the water will rise two feet more through the night. The rise was not as rapid to-day as yesterday.

To-night it is cloudy and threatens rain.

LOCKHAVEN, Pa., March 28.—Intelligence is received here this evening that the great ice gorge at Glenroe, 12 miles above here, commenced moving to-day. The Susquehanna overflowed the surrounding country. The greatest anxiety exists among residents along the river bank, and they are already preparing to remove their effects to places of safety. The fall of a house owned by Mayor J. W. Smith, one of the handsomest and most costly structures of the kind in this section of the State, is threatened by the flood. It extends nearly to the water's edge. The proprietors commenced to move their property from the lower stories to the upper this afternoon. The furious mountain streams and the general thaw up the river have increased the volume of water so greatly that the Susquehanna has overflowed numbers of valuable farms. The loss is very heavy. Back water has forced up the current of Fishing and other creeks, and small bridges have been destroyed. It is also currently reported that three lives have been lost and it is feared the loss of life may be still greater. From all information that can be secured it is probable the inundation will reach this city late to-night or to-morrow morning. Probably the deluge will be accelerated by the rain storm and the lower part of the city will be destroyed.

Nine Days of Peril—Some are Rescued, the Rest Dead.

BALTIMORE, March 28.—Captain James, of the steamer Nuremburg, which arrived here to-day, reports that on March 22d, he saw a schooner with her ensign at half mast; bore down to her and was asked to take 10 men on board, who had been saved. Capt. James sent a boat to the schooner which turned out to be the Geo. S. Fogg, from St. Edward's Island. The 10 men reported as follows: They belonged to St. Mary's, New Foundland; our trade is fishing in shore boats. On the 2d of March we saw a ship ice bound, about 2½ miles from the coast. We went out together with a party of 14 men, all from St. Mary's. The wind from the west blew a breeze before. When we reached her we met the captain of said ship in charge of another party from St. Mary's; took the captain ashore; he was sick. As near as we could understand the crew had left the ship the day before. We reached the ship at 9 P. M. As night came on we made for land after searching the ship, but did not reach the coast, as the ice had opened towards the land. We spent that night on the ice, and had seven men frozen to death Sunday night. Next day we went aboard again. We had to leave nine more out of our number, as these men were too weak to walk, and the ice would not permit us on account of its weak state to carry them. Three of these men were picked up by the schooner George S. Fogg on the 6th of March, the only survivors of the nine. We found nothing to eat and drink aboard besides molasses. The ship drifted out with the ice, but we were in sight of the coast six or seven days, but not able to reach it. We stopped till the 11th of March in the ship, when we saw a schooner about four miles to the east of us. As the ice was in some parts too weak to bear a man, we took a small boat from the ship and made for the schooner, which we reached in the afternoon, where we were received with great kindness.

One of the Suspended Banks will Pay Up if Allowed Time.

BOSTON, March 29.—Liabilities of bank of S. P. Burt, New Bedford, suspended to-day, are $300,000; assets are claimed to be $450,000. The house will pay in full if extension be granted.

Another Turn of the Screws.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Another increase is threatened overland railroad freights from 20 to 33 per cent. on all classes above letter B. Freight agents will make no contracts beyond the day for which the contract is made.

A Sensible way of Honoring the Dead.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 29.—The Irish-born portion of the population of this city and vicinity have resolved to honor the memory of John Mitchel by abandoning the street parade and raising funds for his widow.

Sectarian Schools by Taxation.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Vicar Gen. Quinn has appointed what the Tribune characterizes as an able and [illegible] committee to consider with the committee of the board of education on what terms the parochial schools may be admitted to the benefits of the common school system, subject to the laws as regards the course of instruction, methods of discipline and general management.

Reported Successor to Gen. Spinner.

CHICAGO, March 29.—The Times' Indianapolis special states positively that John C. New, cashier of the [illegible] National Bank of that city, and a local financier of some local prominence, has been tendered the appointment of U. S. Treasurer to succeed Gen. Spinner and that while he has not yet definitely decided to accept the place, he has gone to Washington to see about it.

The Graves of Our Dead in Mexico to be Cared For.

CHICAGO, March 29.—A Washington special gives the following opening paragraph of an editorial in the Washington Chronicle, which the correspondent says was dictated by Senator Anthony: "It is now stated definitely that the members of the Senatorial Mexican excursion do go on legitimate government business. They are detailed to see if the graves of soldiers killed in the Mexican war are properly cared for. This act of patriotism has been long delayed and neglected through all the changing vicissitudes of over a quarter of a century. These graves have been almost forgotten. The brave men who fell battling for their country's flag on the arid plains of that desolate country, and were buried beneath its soil, will be neglected no longer."

The German Empire's Order against the Exportation of Horses.

CHICAGO, March 29.—A Washington special says U. S. Consul G. K. Kreissman, at Berlin, in an official dispatch from London, dated March 13th, asserts that the German Government had put a stop to the transportation of horses from east Prussia to France. Consul Kreissman further says that the Emperor's counsel has passed a secret ordinance, strictly forbidding the exportation of a single horse from north Germany to any place whatever. Kreissman considers that action as extremely significant, and this opinion is shared by officials at the State department. It would appear that either north Germany is making extensive arrangements for the speedy strengthening of the entire cavalry of the empire, or that the French Government is for some purpose endeavoring to make extensive purchases of horses in Germany. The best authorities are of the opinion that the first is the true solution, and that this is not a hopeful sign for the future peace of Europe.

An Editor Sent to Jail for Contempt.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Judge Williams, of the circuit court of this county, this morning, sentenced Wilbur Storey, editor and proprietor of the Chicago Times, to ten days in the county jail for constructive contempt of the court in having published an editorial which the court construed as reflecting upon himself and the grand jury of his court. The action of Judge Williams is severely commented upon in most quarters. Mr. Storey will doubtless be immediately released on a writ of habeas corpus.

Another Bank Suspended.

BOSTON, March 29.—A New Bedford dispatch says the banking house of I. P. Burt, hitherto considered sound, has suspended. Liabilities as yet unknown.

Fire in the Indiana State Prison.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., March 29.—A fire in the State prison, in the pattern shop of the Southwestern Car Co's works, damaged the building to the extent of $20,000, and destroyed $5,000 worth of material. It was feared at one time that the entire prison would go.

Storey's Contempt Case.

CHICAGO, March 29.—There is a difference of opinion among lawyers as to whether Mr. Storey can obtain a writ of habeas corpus in his case. He has, however, applied to Judge McAllister of the Supreme Court for a writ of supersedeas.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The following postal changes have been ordered for the Pacific Coast: Postmasters appointed—John C Pearson, Applegate, Jackson county, Oregon; Robert H. Brown, Brownborough, Jackson county, Oregon; Hugot Vinlug, Franklin, Pierce county, W. T.

Summary Action to Suppress the Mexican Raids.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Instructions will at once be issued through the War Department, to the general commanding in Texas, to take such measures as may be possible to deal summarily with the Mexican raiders. Those best conversant with affairs, apprehend that a general border war will ensue, in which event the invasion of Mexico by armed citizens in pursuit of the robbers is not improbable.

Resignation Withdrawn.

Geo. B. McCartee, who a few days ago tendered his resignation as chief of bureau of engraving and printing of the Treasury department, has, at the request of Secretary Bristow, withdrawn his resignation.

Death of Welcker.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Welcker, the restaurateur, died to-day of pneumonia.

Mr. Spinner Resigns.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—U. S. Treasurer Spinner has resigned, to take effect July 1st. It is understood he pressed upon the President the necessity of his retirement.

A Force to be Repeated.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Special Treasury Agent Jos. D. Evans, will leave here to-night for the purpose of making certain investigations as to the management of the revenue service on the Pacific coast.

CANADA.

French People Going Back to Canada.

OTTAWA, March 29.—With reference to the expatriation of Canadians from the United States, government has set aside several townships in the northwest for all such as wish to return to Canada and take them up as free homesteads, and liberal terms for transportation of this people from all parts of the United States have been made with railroads.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

YOKOHAMA, March 3.—The following news is received by the Vasco de Gama to San Francisco:

The Osaka conferences have terminated and the participants returned to their usual places of residence. These meetings are understood to have been arranged by the influence of Okubo Jasimite Satusina, a statesman, Secretary of the Interior and recently distinguished for having conducted negotiations on the subject of Formosa at Peking. The purpose was solely to reconcile differences between leading public men, former officials, and others, with a view to bringing back into service of the country certain able men who had been temporarily estranged. Almost every leading member of the government was present at some time during the gathering. There was much courtesy (?) among both natives and foreigners, and the British minister went so far as to strenuously insist on a full and detailed explanation which it was not possible to give him. The result of the whole is the partial accomplishment of the desired end. Some of the important absentees have already returned to the capital and a few of those lately out of office have been received personally by the Mikado, which fact points to their early resumption of duties. Changes in heads of departments are doubtless impending, but to what extent Osaka debates will produce Government reforms can not yet be known. It is universally admitted that the administration needs strengthening.

YOKOHAMA, March 8.—The Mikado visited the government navy yard at Yokosuka March 5th, to witness the launch of the Zeiki. She is the first vessel of war constructed on foreign principles. There was a general celebration in the vicinity. The Zeiki is a gunboat 197 feet long 30 feet beam, 16 feet depth of hold, displacement 810 tons, carries 3 Krupp guns, one a swivel of 6 inch calibre. Her engine is 700 horse power.

The Hospital College has been established at Osaka for the instruction of women in obstetrics.

HONGKONG, Feb. 27—SHANGHAI, Feb. 28, by steamship Vasco De Gama.—The Viceroy of Canton's proposed foreign loan was taken in hand by the central Government and just negotiated at Shanghai with an Oriental banking corporation, which has advanced two million taels. It is a private transaction; no bonds issued.

Many dead bodies of Chinese have been taken from the wreck of the Pacific Mail steamship Japan, all of which were kept under water by money fastened about them.

The report of the Chinese commissioners to Cuba to examine into the condition of the coolies is completed. It is strongly adverse to the system and the course of the Cuban authorities.

Work on the Fichao telegraph line continues suspended.

There are continual rumors from Peking pointing to public disturbances, but nothing authentic to show a likelihood of interruption to the state of affairs.

Prince Chun, father of the new Emperor, has resigned his position as commander of the Tartar garrison of Peking.

It has been found expedient to readmit Prince Kung to at least a part of the official power formerly held by him, his experience in foreign affairs being especially required at this time.

The infant Emperor is said to be extremely wretched in his new exaltation, which separates him from his parents and companions forever. In a proclamation already issued as proceeding from him, it is announced he will continue in mourning three years. On the petition of his ministers this term will probably be reduced to twenty-seven days.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

England.

LONDON, March 28.—Moody and Sankey announce that they will quit Agricultural Hall after this week and open a regular mission in East End.

LONDON, March 29.—The Cologne Gazette says there is no truth in the report that Bismarck is to be made Duke of Lauenburg.

A dispatch from Trieste says great preparations are making for the unveiling next month of the monument in memory of Maximilian. All companions of the late Emperor in Mexico have been invited.

LONDON, March 29.—One of the largest meetings held in this city in several years was to-day, in Hyde Park, under the auspices of the Tichborne release committee of the same place. Number of persons is estimated as high as 100,000. Bands of music were engaged and flags displayed bearing mottoes in sympathy with and demanding justice for the claimant. The addresses were by Dr. Kenealy, Onslow and Whalley principally. The enthusiastic people unhitched the horses from the carriages of these gentlemen and drew them to Hyde Park. A resolution was adopted denouncing the crushing partiality of the judges on the trial, the unscrupulous license of the prosecution, the absolute miscarriage of justice, and declaring they would know no rest till the enormous judicial crime was rectified. Adjourned. The speakers were escorted from the park by great crowds.

France.

PARIS, March 28.—Edgar Quinet, a distinguished author and member of the assembly from Paris, is dead.

The police to-day made a descent on the English betting officers and secured the books and cash found on the premises.

Rome.

ROME, March 28.—La Opinione says the government has decided to give assistance in certain limits to Italian exhibitors at the U. S. Centennial Exhibition, but it proposes to appeal mainly to individual effort, and will recommend that only such articles be sent as are of unexceptional merit and great commercial importance.

Germany.

BERLIN, March 28.—The Roman Catholic bishops of Prussia are to hold a conference at Fulda Tuesday night.

Spain.

LONDON, March 28.—It is reported from Estrella that deputies from four provinces occupied by Carlists have met to consider the request of Don Carlos for contributions, and have replied that the country is exhausted and fresh sacrifices are imposed; Carlos ought to procure funds abroad; and this position they obstinately maintain, notwithstanding Carlos' threats.

Dispatches from Madrid report that Carlos has ordered persons found receiving Cabrera's manifesto to be shot.

There have been additional instances of fraternizing of Carlist and government troops on the banks of the Oria. In one of the Carlist camps placards headed: [This heading is so badly written in the dispatch it could not be deciphered—ED.] have been posted.

The government announce that six Carlist generals, with a colonel and many other officers, have entered France, and declared their adhesion to Alfonso.

A telegram from Santander asserts, on the other hand, that the hope of settling the war by a convention is fast dying out. General Loma is expected there to meet the threatened invasion of the province. Don Carlos, with 16 battalions and artillery, is marching on Ramales, 25 miles from Santander. Spain has paid to Germany 11,000 thalers indemnity for the Gustave outrage.

THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL.

The Interest Grows.

NEW YORK, March 29.—If the crowd around Brooklyn court room this morning is any indication, the interest in the Beecher trial is increasing.

David Dowes,

Commission merchant, was the first witness. He testified that he couldn't recollect the year, nor had he any memoranda of dates. His family went on a trip to Omaha that spring, leaving on the last day of May, and returned on the 12th of June.

Cross-examination waived.

John Winslow,

Lawyer, was next witness. He was a member of Plymouth Church investigating committee that met at Storr's house. Mrs. Tilton was before the committee at Ovington's on the 6th of July. Tracy accompanied the committee there and was only absent two or three minutes. Tilton was before the committee on the 10th of July. He said there should not be any investigation, and asked if Beecher wanted one. He was assured he did, and Cleveland showed him Beecher's letter demanding it. Tilton said his case was in writing. He never stated as to whether he had made any confession to him, verbal or otherwise. He saw Beecher's letter and read it carefully.

On the 13th of July, the day Tilton published his card, witness had an interview with him when Tilton said this investigation was all wrong, and ought not to be. He wanted the committee to adopt a report he had drawn; that indeed he had drawn two or three reports. Witness told him he did not want to hear anything except testimony before the committee. Tilton begged witness not to oppose it, and to do his statement justice.

Witness was present when Tilton said to Tracy: "You have no right to be here in collusion with me after the promise you made." Tracy replied: "Yes, but I saw you change your ground; and I did not consider the promise binding." Tracy went into the front parlor, and Tilton followed and said to him: "Tracy, I forgive you. I like you better than any man in Brooklyn." He put his arm around Tracy's neck, who said something about forgiveness. Tilton said: "There's one difference between us, Tracy. I always forgive, but you never do."

Cross examined—Witness said Mrs. Tilton made two statements, both verbal, before the committee. The first was made on the 6th of July. Witness never saw it in print. Beecher made two written statements: the first on the 16th of July, before the whole committee. This statement was not left with the committee. The substance of it only was published. Witness did not know whether the stenographer took notes of it. Witness had never seen the statement since that night, and never saw the stenographer write out his notes of it. The committee turned over all the evidence after it was written to the examining committee of the church, some of whom took charge of it; his impression is that it was Cleveland. Witness did not see the evidence taken before the committee till it was printed. He had nothing to do with printing it. He signed the report of the committee. The last time he saw the original it was in Reynolds' hands. Witness drafted the report; drew the portion in regard to Beecher's evidence, and knew there was a small error that had crept into it. Hill drew his attention to it a few days ago. This was in stating that Beecher spoke of the statement read by Tilton as the true story. It was now witness' impression Beecher simply spoke of it as the story, but when he (witness) drafted the report he must have had the impression he used the phrase "true story."

The report was read and discussed before the whole committee at witness' office. Tracy was not present at any time when it was read and discussed. When on July 10th Tilton spoke against the investigation, he said it would be unhappy, unfair, and lead to endless trouble and distress, but to whom he didn't say. He thought there would be a number of unhappy revelations, which Beecher and himself did not desire should be exposed. With regard to his unwillingness to testify on this and other occasions, he said he was well aware he was a discredited person in this community, but his case rested in writing. The committee said they would like to see it. Witness thought this conversation was not taken by the stenographer, but it might have been. On the 13th, when Tilton came before the committee, he referred to Mrs. Tilton's testimony on the 6th, and gave that as one of the reasons why the investigation should be ended. He had a report which he wanted the committee to adopt, exonerative of him and Beecher.

Witness repeated a conversation between Tilton and Tracy, and said Tilton did not say to Tracy, you are prevaricating.

Tracy and Hill examined witnesses in behalf of the committee. It was understood their services were voluntary and gratuitous. Witness knew nothing of the West charges. They were not disclosed before the committee. Neither Mrs. Bradshaw, Mrs. Moulton nor Mr. Bowen was before the committee.

Re-direct and re-cross-examinations elicited nothing new.

Thomas J. Turner,

Superintendent of Beecher's Peekskill farm, was the next witness. He testified that Beecher was at his farm on the 2d of June, 1873, with Mrs. Beecher, and stayed till the next afternoon. Was there again on the 16th of June.

Cross-examination: He was questioned as to the correctness of dates, and stated he had a memorandum of the amount paid by him for a telegram received the morning of Beecher's visit, announcing his coming, and had the bill of butchers for meat furnished for Beecher's use.

At the conclusion of the examination of this witness recess was taken.

AN OREGONIAN'S OBSERVATIONS IN CALIFORNIA.

JACINTO, Colusa county, Cal.,
March 18, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I send you a few lines from the great Sacramento valley, to let you know the world still moves, and we move with it. The ranchmen, as the farmers are called here, have all finished seeding, but are still summer-fallowing, and will continue to do so as long as ten mules can move a plow. We have had a long dry north wind, and crops are suffering for rain, which if it does not come soon, the late sowed grain will not amount to anything, and the volunteer and summer-fallow will be very light. I have seen volunteer barley already headed out! We have had a long, dry, cold winter, with considerable frost, which has considerably retarded vegetation.

I sent to Portland for potatoes a short time back, which came duly to hand. The potatoes raised here do not suit an old Oregonian. They went off like hot cakes, and I will be obliged to send for more, as they are in great demand amongst my friends.

There has been considerable sickness in the valley this season, and many deaths; as usual, by lead and steel.

The wheat crop of 1874 is about all shipped above this point. The returns were heavier than 1873, but the price considerably lower—$1 37½ per 100 lbs. was about the highest. Some was sold much lower.

Nothing local, but the wedding of a charming young and wealthy widow, to come off on the 22d inst. No more at present. R. S.

AN APPEAL FOR THE KANSAS SUFFERERS.

SALEM, March 29, 1874.

Good People of Oregon: My mission among you is now generally known, as agent for the Kansas sufferers. The shortness of time calls for prompt action. The time to put in spring crops is at hand, and hundreds of farmers, without assistance, are unable to plant. The articles most needed are—

1. Provisions, such as flour, bacon, dried beef, dried fruits, beans, cracked wheat, etc.
2. Articles of clothing for spring and summer wear.
3. Onion sets, and garden seeds such as belong to kitchen garden.
4. Last but not least, money to buy seed to plant or sow.

Transportation is free to all railroad points most convenient for distribution. All contributions are desired to be in readiness by the 8th of April, as the vessel will sail about the 10th from Portland. I shall visit all points accessible within the limited time, but all who have a heart in the benevolent work are requested to "put a shoulder to the wheel." My address will be Salem.

P. HIATT, Agent.

A letter from Grant county to the Democrat, says: "We are about 80 miles from the Malheur Indian reserve, where Sam Parrish and Old Winnemucca hold the brave Piutes, and keep them from annihilating all the whites in the upper country. If the entire band was counted, and you might count Sam three times, I do not think they would number 250, big and little, old and young; and in addition to the force at the reserve, there are three companies of troops at the military post to help them in case any of the border ruffians should happen to impose on the noble red men. I think that with the aid of the peace commission, this force will be ample to protect these 'wards of government.'"

The celebration of the obsequies of John Mitchel, arranged to take place yesterday, was postponed on account of the weather, to Sunday next, when a turnout on a grand scale is expected.

BAKERSFIELD, March 29.—In regard to the murder of Peraich by Ashim at Darwin City, the evidence thus far shows that the murder was not so cold blooded as at first reported. Bad blood had previously existed between them, and at the time of the murder, Peraich attempted to draw a pistol before the shooting began.

Fire at Benicia—Three Men Burned.

BENICIA, March 29.—About three o'clock this morning a fire was discovered by a sentry at the arsenal, in the house of Wm. Melrose, used as a boarding house, and at the time of the fire filled with occupants. The proprietor barely escaped with his life, leaping through a window with his child in his arms, both uninjured. His wife made her escape badly bruised. Men were seen jumping from the windows in their night shirts. There was no time to save anything. All were soon out except three men named Finnerty, Shea and Hanson. Every exertion was made to save them but to no purpose. When the fire died out the body of Finnerty was discovered—a charred mass. The others were buried so deeply as not yet to be discovered. Shea was collector for the contractors, Parrie, of San Francisco, who are furnishing Frear stone for the arsenal. He has a wife and child in San Francisco. Hanson was engaged in the interest of the same parties. He had formerly been a lawyer in New York. Finnerty was a bricklayer. Richard Lodge is badly burned about the head and face, but will probably recover. The property is a total loss; no insurance.

THE DUELLO IN NEW MEXICO.

FORT BAYARD, (N. M.), Feb. 21.—A startling episode of life on the border occurred in Arizona, about 40 miles from here, last week. A short time since a quarrel arose between a notorious desperado named Patrick Mutherway and William Clark, a young who man recently came from Illinois. To settle the ill feelings, it was proposed to fight it out with fists, and that the winner take a purse of $400. The fight came off as agreed, and Mutherway, being much the stronger, punished Clark severely. Smarting under the disgrace and loss of his money, the latter challenged Mutherway to fight a duel with pistols, which was accepted, and the distance fixed at 20 paces, fire and advance, and continuing firing until one or both were killed. The duel took place as agreed, Mutherway winning the choice of positions. Taking their places, the word to fire was given, and on the instant both weapons were discharged. For a moment neither antagonist showed signs of being struck, when Clark's pistol dropped from his hand, and, clasping his hands over his breast, he fell into the arms of his second, who laid him upon the ground. His coat and vest were opened, and it was at once seen that he had received his death wound. The ball from Mutherway's pistol had entered in the neighborhood of the heart, severing an artery, and in less than ten minutes the young man was a corpse.

Mutherway, who escaped without a scratch, is well known in this section and elsewhere as a desperate character, a horse thief, and a highwayman. He is the keeper of a dance-house just across the border, in Mexico, the resort of the cut-throats that infest that region. It is understood that prior to his advent in this country, he was chief of the gang of train robbers now lead by the James and Younger brothers, and operating largely in Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

Of Clark I know but little, except that he formerly lived and has relatives in Illinois.

WHEN THE ROSES CLIMB.

"I am given to understand, Mrs. Haven," commenced his Honor, as a tall, thin female came out, "that you were drunk again last night, in spite of what you promised me a week ago."

"I took a sip to keep the chills away, your Honor," she squeaked.

"And you fell down stairs, had a fight with your husband, and were brought up here on a sled," he continued.

"Poor me! Poor me!" she wailed, wiping her eyes on the corner of her apron.

"Yes, the time has now arrived when you may well raise your voice in lamentation," he continued. "I've let you off on suspended sentence several times, and you have not heeded my repeated warnings. Your hour has come. Your little old shanty will not echo the sound of your melodious voice for many days to come, and your husband can retire with his boots on and lie corner-ways in the bed. You will not be there to hear the March winds sighing around the gables, and the spring break-up will come and you won't be here to wade through the mud on Woodward avenue. I'll make the sentence three months. When the roses begin to clamber up the trellis and nod their sweet buds at each other, and the boys are playing mumble-the-peg in the parks, and the mild-tempered blue-bird sings on the gate-posts, then, Mrs. Haven, you will recover your liberty and come back to us an older and, I hope a better woman."

She wiped her eyes again, rolled them up until they looked like hard boiled eggs, and as Bijah led her away, she called out:

"Send somebody down after my other corset, and black shawl.—Detroit Free Press.

CAN INSECTS BE DROWNED?—As an instance how long some insects may retain life when immersed in a fluid, I have been assured by a very ingenious and accurate gentleman that, being present at the opening of a bottle of Madeira wine which had been brought from Virginia to London, three flies were found in it. He immediately observed that they had a fair opportunity of trying the truth of the common opinion that a fly cannot be drowned, and desired the company to lay the flies in the sun, the day being very warm. The flies were accordingly laid on a China plate, and in less than an hour took wing. M. de Reaumer kept bees under water nine hours, and all of them came to life.—Tom P., p. 540.

OREGON.

A Union county man caught a wild elk last week with a lasso.

The river was 13 feet above low water mark at Salem last Sunday morning.

T. B. Merry, late of the Coos Bay News, will publish in book form his "People I Have Met."

The schooner Melancthon lost her shoe while crossing the bar on her way to San Francisco.

The bridge across Mill creek, at the north end of Commercial street, Salem, is nearly washed away.

The stages will be placed upon the route from Coos Bay to Roseburg probably by the middle of May.

An administrator's bond was filed in the Marion county clerk's office a few days since in the sum of $3.

Governor Grover has re-commissioned A. J. Sturtevant, Esq., of Pilot Rock, Umatilla county, a Notary Public for Oregon.

Five thousand dollars have been sent by the county treasurer on account of the taxes due from Coos county to the State treasurer.

The old court house at Empire City is in course of demolition, the lumber being burned as fast as torn down. It was one of the old land marks.

Hay is getting short in Powder River Valley, but if the present pleasant weather continues, there will not be much more needed for stock before next winter.

We are in receipt of the first number of The Flail, a small sheet published at Shedd, Linn county. It has more in it than some more pretentious journals we have seen.

A man named John Stormant, of Prineville, fell from a mule about two weeks ago, cutting his head to the bone and crushing his breast, and has been crazy and spitting blood ever since.

The Baker City Democrat is informed by passengers from Portland that there is considerable mail matter scattered along the road on each side of the Blue mountains. If this is the case, the matter should be looked after by the mail agent, and the evil remedied.

Mr. J. W. Will, of Aurora, informs the Record that much of the wheat on low lands, flat prairies, etc., in that portion of the valley is killed out and the land will have to be plowed again and resowed. The wheat on uplands, or rolling ground, has generally held its own and looks well.

The Record says: The Sheet Anchor ran into Mr Luse's wharf at Empire City last week with so much violence that it was found necessary to rip up the planking and cut the timbers away under her bowsprit before she could be cleared. She was just being towed down to get a deck load of lumber.

There is some excitement at Ochoco about Silver creek, about 140 miles southeast of Prineville. It is said to be a good farming, stock-growing and mining country. A man who wintered there last winter says the winter was fine, and quite a number of people are going to move there this spring.

A letter from Ochoco to the Guard says: The mail route up the McKenzie will prove a great benefit to this section of country. It now runs through Camp Polk, a nice little town at the ferry on the Deschutes river, to upper Ochoco. From thence it should be continued to Camp Harney, as there is a large agricultural settlement fifty miles from any postoffice.

The Baker City Democrat, of March 24th, says: On Sunday the wind came from the south and partook, in a small degree, the Chinook, which caused the snow to disappear from our streets, and on Monday morning the atmosphere had all the bracing elements of a regular spring morning. Spring has come—say our weather prophets. We hope they may prove true in their prognostications.

The Marysville Water and Mining Company, whose works are located at Auburn, in Baker county, now have in 1,500 feet of flume which will convey some 2,000 inches of water. It is the intention of the superintendent to run day and night, and it is expected that they will be able to wash down 1,500 square yards of ground every twelve hours. The Company are well pleased with their prospects, and look for big pay from their mining operations this season.

The Farmer learns from Mr. J. W. Wills, of Aurora, who pays much attention to bee culture, and has succeeded well with the Italian bees, that, so far as he knows, bees have wintered well and suffered nothing from the severe cold weather. He has twelve stands, which are kept at a nominal cost, and his honey yield is sufficient for family use and to spare some for his neighbors. For two years past he has cultivated the Italian variety, and finds they are hardier, more industrious and store more honey than the ordinary bee.

The Guard's Ochoco correspondent says: The miners are preparing for work in the Ochoco mines as soon as the water comes. There are some claims that will pay $100 a day to the hand, but a great many more will not pay anything. These mines are not yet thoroughly prospected, and it is the opinion of some that this country is rich in gold, silver, copper and lead. Marietta, the town at the Ochoco mines, is nicely situated on the great middle fork of the Ochoco river, and is a pleasant place for invalids to pass the summer. It is one continued shade of fir, pine and tamarack, with as good water as there is in the world.

A letter to the Corvallis Democrat says: "A valley with the euphonious name of Dunder and Blitzen, is situated in Grant county, about 50 miles from Camp Harney, 180 miles from Winnemucca and 175 miles from Canyon City. There are but few settlers there, but seven ranches having been taken as yet, but the valley contains about 10,000 acres of land susceptible of cultivation, which will produce almost any kind of grain, fruits or vegetables. Timber is very scarce. There is plenty for firewood but little or none suitable for fencing and building purposes. Stock has wintered well, and will come out in the spring in good order. The range is excellent and extensive, making it a very fine stock country. Altogether, about 7,000 head of cattle and 450 head of horses were wintered in the valley, and they all look well."

THE HEBREWS OF NEW YORK.—The New York correspondent of the Rochester Democrat writes: "It has been computed that there are 80,000 Jews in this city. I think this number too large an estimate; but there are probably 50,000. As a people they are strongly attached to their ancient service. A few have wandered into infidelity, the chief of these being August Belmont, the noted banker. The Jews are, to a large degree, of foreign birth, being almost entirely Germans; hence they prefer this element in their religion. The chief synagogue in this city is that of the Temple Emanuel, corner of forty-third street and Fifth avenue. It is a new structure of great beauty, and cost $500,000. In doctrine it is of the Reformed or Rationalistic order, and its rabbi is Samuel Adler, by birth a German, and now in his sixty-fifth year. Rabbi Adler preaches in German; but his assistant, Gustave Gottheil, is a good English scholar, and officiates in that tongue. Each of these men receives $6,000 a year, and this double salary speaks well for the liberality as well as for the wealth of the society. Another rabbi of foreign birth is David Einhorn, of Bavaria, who came to this city in 1864, and has charge of a synagogue in the Seventh avenue. Samuel Isaacs, rabbi of the Grand Street Synagogue, in Forty-fifth street, is a native of Holland, and has labored in this city since 1838. The ark in this institution cost $70,000. Services are held in Hebrew and German. Rabbi Huesch, a native of Hungary, who came hither in 1844, has charge of the Lexington Avenue Synagogue. The edifice and its appointments of worship cost $600,000."

THE TERRITORIES.

The heavy winds of last week were severely felt at Walla Walla.

Hon. John Hailey, Delegate to Congress from Idaho, arrived home at Boise City last week.

Twenty-one civil and one criminal case are docketed for trial at the April term of the district court to be held at Vancouver.

Work on the Walla Walla and Columbia River Railroad is now progressing in earnest. Grading from Dry creek up is now going on satisfactorily.

The old wharf boat Web Foot, which has served in that capacity at Wallula for several years past, was wrecked by the hard wind a few days ago and sank at her moorings.

The snow melting in the mountains is causing a perceptible rise in all the streams traversing the Walla Walla valley. Mill creek is considerably swollen and very muddy. It is to be hoped that the Columbia river will soon admit of the opening of navigation.

The Register says: "Major John A. Kress of the ordnance department at Vancouver, has, we understand, purchased the interest of Capt. Levi Farnsworth in the Silver Star quartz ledge. The Major has unbounded confidence in the richness of the mine, the development of which will be resumed with increased facilities about the first of June."

The Spirit says: "All the grain at Walla Walla—some 500 sacks of wheat and some 20 sacks of flaxseed—have gone forward to Wallula, and the Touchet station is all cleared out except some 30 sacks of flaxseed, which is detained there to be dealt out to farmers in quantities of 300 to 500 pounds each for seed. We believe the contract price for flaxseed this year is $1 25 per bushel."

A letter from Idaho city, written on St. Patrick's day, says: "Another unsuccessful attempt has been made to rescue the snow bound Chinamen on the Middle Boise. Ed. Malloon and Billy Abbott, who started out to them two days ago, were overtaken by the snow storm when about 12 miles from town and very wisely gave up the undertaking, getting back late last night."

The Walla Walla Spirit says: "We observe that throughout the country, plowing and seeding is now the order of the day. Many fields have been turned up afresh, and the seeding in many places has already been accomplished. We may anticipate our usual amount of acreage sown, notwithstanding the low prices of grain the past fall. Many who are the tillers of the soil and have teams on the road have nothing now to distract their attention from farming. The Columbia river is still low, and no immediate prospect of a renewal of the freighting business. This will give the farmers ample time to put in their crops."

The Salt Lake Tribune of March 19th, says: On Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock, a large slide struck Mill A, near Big Cottonwood, and the buildings surrounding it, completely demolishing all and burying the family of Mr. Crane, consisting of seven persons. They were all rescued by the neighbors, after considerable hard work, comparatively uninjured excepting one boy the last member of the family taken out, who was under the snow and debris of the house for six hours. Our informant says the canyon is blockaded with slides nearly the entire length, and ore shipments and other business is entirely suspended.

The railroad meeting at Waitsburg, W. T., came off Saturday before last, as per announcement, and was addressed by S. M. Wait of Dayton, and Wm. Vawter, W. G. Preston and others of Waitsburg. The result of the meeting was the appointment of a committee of four to confer with the Dayton railroad committee with reference to the organization of the Dayton and Walla Walla Railroad Company. An adjourned meeting is to be held on Saturday, April 10, when the committee are instructed to report. The addresses showed clearly that the gentlemen have an abiding faith in the future of that country and are ready to "put up" something on the prospects now before them.

"LITTLE DAN."

A LIFE-STORY DECIPHERED AT A POSTOFFICE WINDOW.

[From the Free Press.]

You see, the people at the postoffice soon recognize faces and names, and after a man or woman has appeared at the general delivery window three or four times they are pretty well known. It is a real pleasure to hand out letters to some, while the clerks care little for the calls of others to get hold of their epistles.

One day a year or two ago, a funny-looking little old woman, wearing faded garments, but having a tidy look and a motherly face, appeared at the window and asked for a letter. There was one for her, sent from a distant city, and any one could have told that an unlearned boy directed the envelope. There was a little "d" in Detroit, with a big "T" to end the word, and it seemed wonderful that the letter ever reached its destination.

The old lady felt so good that tears in her eyes and yet trying hard to smile, she put her head into the window and said:

"Thanks! It's from my boy Dan, and you don't know how much good it does me!"

The lady delivery clerk rose up to look after the old woman, and when a second letter came she was looking and watching for "mother" a whole day before the letter was passed out.

"It's from my little Dan again," cried the old woman as she noted the superscription. "He's in Buffalo, learning a trade. He's only a bit of a boy, and there wasn't a show for him in Detroit, and beside he was running out nights and going to the bad. I sent him away and he's working hard and trying to be good. God bless my Dan! I'm a lone widow with only him to love, and I hope he'll be good!"

"I hope so, too," added the clerk, and after that the two were friends. Sometimes the letters were far between, and when the old woman would worry over the delay, and the big tears would fall, the lady would almost shed tears with her. "Mother" would open her letters at the window, and if Dan was feeling brave-hearted and getting along well, both would rejoice, while both would still be anxious if he complained and was discouraged.

Almost every week for a year and a half the old lady received a letter, and just as regularly she came to post an answer. She wrote in a quaint old hand, but the boy could make out every word; and once when he wrote that her writing was improving, she felt all the pride which a school girl could have shown. He improved as well. By and by he wrote "Detroit" plain and fair, and he took extra pains to commence his "Dear mother" with a grand flourish, and to add something extra after the words "Your son Dan."

These letters were food and drink to the old lady, and she seemed to actually grow younger. Little Dan had many friends in the postoffice, and had the mother been ill any carrier would have hunted till midnight to find her and hand her the looked-for letter. Three or four weeks ago when she opened her letter she wept and smiled as over the first. Dan wrote that he was coming home for a week and her heart was full. She said she'd have the cottage looking like new for him, and she'd be at the depot to welcome him first of all. Everybody felt glad with her, and the lady clerk was to go up some evening and have tea with her and see little Dan, and praise and encourage him, for the more kind words a boy can have the better will he seek to do.

There was no letter the next Tuesday, but the two excused its absence by saying that Dan was getting ready to come home. That was early in February, and he was to come about the 1st of March. The next Tuesday there was a letter, but the handwriting was not little Dan's. It was a strange, business hand, and the clerk felt a chill go over her as she turned it over. It might be good news, but she feared not. "Mother" came in at the regular hour, and she turned pale as she took the envelope. Her fingers trembled as she opened it, and she had to wipe the mist out of her eyes before she could decipher a word. She hadn't read over four or five lines when she uttered a moan and sank right down, like one crushed by some awful weight. They lifted her up and took her home, the letter clasped in her stiff fingers; and though she came out of the faint after a while, her heart was broken, and in a week she was in her grave.

Dan was dead! The letter said that he had been taken suddenly ill, and that nothing could save him. The blow was too heavy for one with her gray hairs and childish heart, and her little old cottage is without a tenant.

No more letters commencing "Dear Mother" come for the dead; and the trembling hands which used to finger fondly over the words, "My dear boy, Dan," are folded over a lifeless breast, there to rest till the angels unclasp them.

This is what Minnie Myrtle Miller writes to the San Francisco Chronicle: "Dream on, my Oregon! Love and love again, ye dwellers by the margins of the seas! Land of humid airs and heavenly drops, let thy maidens blush and sigh to own the tender passion; let thy poets write sweet madrigals within thy dewy dingles, and fewer evils will be done beneath the dreamy shadows of thy hills than in lands where they love not." Perhaps, after all, the world has been a little too severe on Joaquin for his desertion of his family.—St. Paul [illegible]

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 30, 1875.

DIVERSIFIED FARMING.

One of the encouraging features in Oregon agricultural industry is the growing tendency to diversity of crops. Heretofore it has been with this State as with most other young communities in this respect; all the energies of the farming people bending to one point. For some time it was fruit; then the price of fruit declined till it would not pay to raise it. The perishable nature of this product made it impossible to extend operations in fruit much beyond the Pacific coast, and the market, thus limited, was soon over-stocked. Then everybody went into wheat. That is an article which has the advantage of a wider range, and proportionately less danger of decline of prices. But when we entered upon that field we entered into competition with all the bread-producing districts of the world. Either failure or unusual abundance of crops in any particular section would not greatly affect the market; but a very bountiful harvest in all, or nearly all, the producing districts would cause depression. A very slight increase over the average yield in the most extensive grain regions would create a large surplus, and the depressing effect would be felt everywhere. The last year was an example of this. Wheat crops barely cleared the cost of their production. This year will probably be better, and there may not be another year of such low prices for some time. But farmers can ill afford to lose a single year at any time.

Any crop is liable, to some extent, to the same accident or incident of low prices from time to time. But it never happens to all in the same year. Wheat is down one year, pork another, hops another, &c. The way, then, to avoid the pinching which comes of a decline in the price of one's only crop is, manifestly, to diversify farm products; have every year, besides the main product, some of various others. Along with the wheat crop, have some well prepared dairy products, some bacon, a fat beef or two, a few mutton sheep and some wool, a few hundred pounds of hops, etc. These things will not diminish the wheat crop, but they will come very handy in securing groceries and paying taxes and school bills when the wheat market is tight. And remember that it costs no more to make good butter than bad, to raise a fine animal than a scrubby one, while the good article or the fine animal is worth double the value of the inferior one.

WHAT SUPERINTENDENT GAMBLE SAYS OF THE "MONOPOLY."

The Portland Bulletin, organ of the west side railway monopoly, of the steamship monopoly, and until very lately, of the east side railway, still raves about the OREGONIAN's monopoly of the dispatches, abusing the Telegraph Company and the Associated Press, by turns, the OREGONIAN all the time, and then all three together. When we published the statement of the local Superintendent of the Telegraph that the Bulletin had been offered the same facilities for the transmission of dispatches as the OREGONIAN, the ring organ only became more fierce and reckless in its assertion of the falsehood, and declared the person who made the statement was no more local Superintendent "than the Chinamen that dug the holes for the telegraph poles."

We are enabled this morning to present a refutation of both the main falsehood and the collateral one, in a telegram from James Gamble, Esq., of San Francisco, General Superintendent of the Telegraph Company, addressed to F. H. Lamb, Superintendent 3d District, dated last Saturday—Feb. 27th—in which he says:

"The Bulletin company was offered and can get at any time the same facilities for news, and at the same price as the OREGONIAN."

Wonder if the Bulletin will attempt to get over that with a sneer that Mr. Gamble is no more Superintendent than the Chinaman who digs post holes for the company.

It is just as we said at the outset. The Bulletin could get the dispatches the same as the OREGONIAN, by paying for them as the OREGONIAN does, and it cannot get them any other way. It is unable to pay for them, and is in a continuous rage, because the OREGONIAN does not choose to come to its relief. To this complexion must it come at last, and the Bulletin only makes a laughing stock of itself when it raves about the OREGONIAN's getting exclusive privileges from the Telegraph Company, in the face of that company's statement that the Bulletin can have the same facilities for the same money. There is the standing offer, gentlemen of the ring organ. "Put up or shut up."

ANOTHER QUESTION ANSWERED.

The person who asked us to explain the Associated Press now writes:

Your explanation of the two news associations—"Associated Press" and "American Press Association"—is so plain that no one need misunderstand it, or have any difficulty in comprehending the nature of these associations. But there is another matter I don't fully understand, and that is, the relation between the news association and the telegraph lines. Can you favor me with an explanation?

We can explain in a word: Nothing. The relation between the telegraph and the news associations is just nothing. They have no connection with each other. They are separate organizations—one engaged in collecting news, and the other in sending, for pay, whatever dispatches are presented. The telegraphing business of the United States is almost entirely in the hands of two companies—the Western Union and the Atlantic and Pacific—and either of these will send any dispatch over its wires without stopping to ask what news association or individual it is that asks to have the dispatch sent. The news associations occupy exactly the same position toward the telegraph companies that the farmer occupies toward the steamboat on which he sends his grain to market. And the telegraph company has no more right to give news thus sent over its lines to any persons besides those to whom it is sent than the owner of a steamboat in the other case would have to deliver the farmers' wheat to some stranger. The dispatches are private property till they are made public by the persons having the right to make them public, and the telegraph company might be asked to sell a merchant's private dispatch to some other merchant, with just as much reason as to sell these dispatches to persons not entitled to receive them.

"ANSWER THAT."

The ring organ of last Saturday had a series of falsehoods drawn out in distinct form, with the conundrum added to each, asking why it was so. And then at the end of each conundrum was the triumphant challenge "answer that." The editor of the ring organ perhaps thinks the idea is new, but it isn't. The organ's performance is simply a new application of the old joke of inquiring why a vessel of water will not weigh any more with a twenty pound fish in it than without. "Answer that!" We give up all that class of conundrums, though we should hesitate to wager that the Bulletin man would not attempt a solution of the fish problem unless somebody told him it was a sell.

But we have a puzzle for the ring organ that is a fair puzzle and no sell. It is this: If the Associated Press dispatches are unreliable, cooked up for private purposes and utterly untruthful, as the Bulletin has repeatedly asserted they are, why is the Bulletin so extremely anxious to secure them? "Answer that;" but "dont all speak at once."

HELP THE SUFFERERS.

Let not our people overlook the importance of helping the needy people of Kansas. See the letter of Mr. Hiatt, the agent, in this morning's paper. Surely no call upon the benevolence of those who have been more fortunate was ever urged by stronger considerations of humanity than that of the people in whose behalf this appeal is made. The cry that comes to us from the locust-smitten farms of the hard-working people of Kansas and Nebraska is the cry of our own countrymen and kinsmen and their wives and little ones, for bread. We would not urge that our people ought to give as liberally as when business in Oregon was at flood-tide, and money was plentiful and easily obtained; but with all our dull times the substance of our country has not been eaten out by the grasshoppers, and we can do something, how little soever, for these sufferers. Let every one give according as he has prospered.

Through our correspondent we have received a sample of wool from Mr. D. M. Guthrie's New Oxford sheep. It is almost as fine and soft as silk; quite equal, we should say, to the beautiful staple produced on the farm of M. Wilkins, of Lane county. But for the slight coloring it receives from the natural oil of the fleece, it might almost be mistaken for fine quality mohair.

The Bulletin of yesterday contained the news that Archbishop McClosky has been made a cardinal. Doubtless it gleaned this item from the OREGONIAN as it was published by us a week or more since. We are glad to be of service to our neighbor.

JUST EXACTLY RIGHT.

The Philadelphia Times in announcing its own future course gives an admirable description of what the paper must be that takes high rank under the new dispensation that has dawned upon journalism in America:

The Times will be a thoroughly independent journal, confessing allegiance only to its own convictions, making no hollow pretenses of neutrality on the leading questions of the day, or in political conflicts as they pass. It will ever discard the blind partisanship that would subordinate right to party success, no matter for what organization or in whose interest such claim is made, and it will resolutely criticise political errors and the want of public integrity wherever they are found.

The age of political organs has passed away never to return again. No journals confessing, either in terms or by unmanly obedience to partisan dictation, their devotion to party whether right or wrong, can now, or henceforth, command popular respect and confidence; nor can they mould the convictions or direct the actions of men in this enlightened era of our political progress. There is not a single great newspaper in the country to-day that does not openly profess and boldly maintain its independence of parties and administrations, while the journals regarded as the ready apologists of power and party usually languish in business, and justly earn the contempt of all intelligent readers of every political faith.

The Times relies solely upon its merits as a complete and fearless newspaper for its success. It has no friends to reward, and no enemies to punish. It will have no sensations for the morbid and credulous and no scandal or scurrility for the depraved. It will have no flattery for ambition, no subserviency for power, and no official patronage to make its accounts balance.

A TRIBUTE.

[From the Salem Statesman.]

"For I say unto you she hath done what she could."

They tell that she is dead; that her tired hands are folded; that her weary feet are still; that her faithful aching heart has grown silent and peaceful at last. It has throbbed hotly at some quick thrust; has been pained unutterably just as yours and mine have been, many, many times, but nothing will move it now. Ours will be as calm some day. I wonder if our lives will have been as wonderfully true.

You have all read and admired what is told of the martyrs of olden times, who died for their belief and trust in God! This lady died for a lesser love than that, she died for her husband. For two years she watched and tended him unceasingly, then they laid him away under the snows and storms of winter, under the flowers of spring.

By her constant vigils she contracted his disease, consumption, and since then has been in a steady decline. I do not cast it as a reproach that she went away to seek not only health but friends.

To-day she came back; but not as she went. Ah no! She is very, very still, and she may not lift her heavy lids at the cruel shafts of malice. Yes, she has come back to rest beside her husband, away from household cares, away from her baby's wailings, out where the rain fall, where the sun beams, where the dews glisten, where the snows drift.

O birds, when your time shall come, sing very soft and low—nothing loud and exultant, but a chant, dreamy and restful, and loving and sweet; but do not disturb her, for she was very tired, and must have perfect rest.

May thy sleep, O noble heart, be dreamless without a single tossing hand, or deep sad sigh, or catching of the breath. If any hands have laid flowers on thy coffin lid who stabbed thee to the very heart in life, may God forgive them the sacrilege! I would that when my time to go shall be at hand, some one could say, "I shall miss her." But if none, may I ask no unmeaning tribute; and if they care not for me living, it were useless to pay respect when I am dead.

RUTH.

SALEM, March 23.

The Philadelphia Times' Brooklyn reporter gives this as the rationale of the Beecher scandal:

The underlying fact about the scandal is that it is no test of religion, nor Congregationalism, nor Brooklyn but the cropping out of the instincts of the Beecher blood, which has always carried along insanity in this matter of sensuality. "If he had not that powerful animal nature," said Moulton, "he could never preach such sermons."

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 30, 1875.

CITY.

EASTER SERVICE AND MISSIONARY SERVICE.—On Sunday evening, at Unitarian church, an interesting meeting took place and was largely attended, the occasion being that of the coming of Rev. Mr. Utter to the coast as agent and mission worker of the American Unitarian Association. The pastor of the church addressed the people upon missionary religions, and expatiated upon the sacrifices of a Paul, an Ambrose, a Savonarola, a Whitfield, the Covenanters, and Jesuits of North America, men whose spirits and sincerity we would do well to emulate. He then welcomed the new worker in cordial terms, saying that he required no charge, but was already charged with wisdom and with fire. Brief, pointed addresses were made by Dr. Pilkington, Mr. Hodge and Mr. Barnard, expressing sympathy and deep earnestness in the common cause. Rev. Mr. Utter then gave a most fitting response to the welcome tendered him, and gave his testimony to the experimental value of Liberal Christianity. He is a quiet and collected speaker, of good intellectual endowment, and quick sympathies, and holds the close attention of his audience to whatever he has to say. Mr. Utter can hardly fail of making friends, and gaining the respect of opponents wherever he goes on his mission labor. The Easter services of the church in the morning were exceedingly interesting, a large number of children were dedicated in baptism, and a number of new members received into the church. The flowers, the admirable choir and responsive services contributed largely to the deep interest of the hour.

BODY FOUND.—Information reached us late last evening that the body of a man was found early yesterday morning some distance south of the city. The remains, we are informed, were accidentally discovered by a person who was out hunting, lying between the prostrate trunks of two large trees in a dense thicket near the base of the wooded hills south of Marquam's gulch. From appearances the body had been lying there for five or six months, as it was badly decomposed and beyond recognition. An umbrella was found lying near by, and a derringer at the side. In the forehead was a hole, which, from appearances, had been made by a gun or pistol shot, and evidently was the immediate cause of death. The person discovering the body did not make a careful examination, but hurried away from the spot. Two men living in the southern portion of the city, hearing that a man's body was discovered, went out to make an examination last evening. Up to 5 o'clock last evening, the coroner had not been notified of the fact. After due diligence we have been able to learn only the most meager particulars, and these we have given. If there is any truth in the report it would appear that the person who first discovered the remains is culpably negligent, for he should have notified the proper officer immediately, so that an investigation could be had at once. Further particulars will be obtained to-day.

FUNERAL OBSEQUIES.—Yesterday all that remained mortal of the late W. P. Burke was consigned to the silence and oblivion of the grave. At 9 o'clock A. M. High Solemn Mass was celebrated at the Catholic church for the repose of the soul. When the solemn and impressive services were concluded, the casket containing the body was placed in the hearse, and the funeral cortege took up the slow line of march for St. Mary's cemetery, on the east side of the river. The following persons acted as pall-bearers: D. J. Malarkey, M. Gleason, B. O'Hara, T. Rodgers, S. J. McCormick, D. F. Harrington, Wm. Grooms and Wm. Condon. Following the hearse were numerous delegations from the civic and military societies—United Irishmen, Hibernian Benevolent Society and Emmet Guard—all appearing in citizens' dress and wearing crape on the arm. Chief Lappeus and a number of policemen, in full uniform, also appeared in the procession. After those on foot came a great number of carriages, in which were seated the relatives and friends of the deceased.

TOUR OF INSPECTION.—Next Monday Gen. Howard will start on a tour of inspection to Fort Colville. He will go by way of Umatilla and Walla Walla, stopping a short time at each station. The object of calling at the stations is not for the purpose of inspecting them but for a friendly visit with the agents, and to take a look at the country as he passes through. Lieut. W. H. Boyle will accompany Gen. Howard as far as Walla Walla, and will return to the city. From that point Gen. Howard will proceed to Fort Colville to inspect the post. He will be absent several weeks.

IMMIGRANTS FROM KANSAS IN DISTRESS.—Three families arrived from Kansas—10 children and 16 persons in all—by last steamer without a single dollar, and are now living on Montgomery street, near water front, in great destitution and distress. The husbands, instead of applying to the Board of Immigration for work, have gone up the valley in search of employment, and their families are temporarily dependent upon the generosity of our people for their support. We trust the benevolent of our citizens will at once see to their wants.

GO TO SALEM.—The ladies and gentlemen who have taken part in the "Color Guard," which enjoyed a successful run about a year ago, and recently to good houses at the Oro Fino, have decided to entertain the citizens of Salem with two entertainments. The time set for the production of this drama at that place is Friday and Saturday of next week. The folks at the capital may anticipate something very pleasing on the evenings mentioned.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, March 29, 1875:

QUARTERLY EXAMINATION.—Nineteen persons applied for certificates to teach, several of whom are students of our High School, who avail themselves of this opportunity to test and prepare themselves for this vocation. The examination was continued to a late hour of the day. Those passing the examination will receive certificates within the week.

BOUGHT OUT.—We understand that the Oregon Transfer Company have purchased all the right, title and interest of the Oregon Dray Company, and the two companies will be merged into one. The transfer took place on Saturday. We are unable to state the purchase price, the terms of the sale being private.

RECEPTION AND SOIREE.—The elegant ball of the Druids was thrown open to the friends of Cleanthe Grove last evening, and quite a number of those invited took advantage of the opportunity to pass the time in social converse and Terpsichorean exercises. One and all seemed to thoroughly enjoy the occasion.

GOOD TEMPLARS' TEA-MEETING.—Last night Portland Lodge enjoyed a splendid time at their tea-meeting. There were a large number present, and the music was especially worthy of notice. To-day, between 12 and 2 o'clock, the ladies will set a lunch for the public. Lunch 25 cents.

AMUSEMENTS.

LIGHTHOUSE CLIFF.—This elegant drama was produced last evening at New Market Theater to a full house. With but few exceptions "Lighthouse Cliff" is one of the most fascinating dramas which has ever been presented to the theater-going public of Portland. It was rendered in splendid style, and gave entire satisfaction to the large, appreciative audience. Mr. Herne appeared in the leading role to excellent advantage, as also did Mrs. Fulford. The other characters were very fittingly represented by the company. At the close of the drama Mr. Herne and Mrs. Fulford were honored with a call before the curtain. The funny comedy of "Clockmaker's Hat," concluded the entertainment, in which Miss Billie Deaves appeared as "Sallie Smart." This evening the same pieces will be presented. It is a capital bill, and we advise the public not to fail and attend. On Wednesday evening Mr. Herne will appear in his great character of "Solon Shingle," in which it is said he is fully the equal of John E. Owens. No one, we feel certain, will fail to see Mr. Herne in this, his great specialty.

WIND STORM AT ASTORIA.

One of the most terrific gales which has ever been experienced at Astoria, within the knowledge of the "oldest inhabitant," passed over that place last Sunday morning. The gale lasted several hours, and such was its severity, that much damage was done to the shipping. During the most of Saturday night, the wind blew strong from the southwest. About 3 o'clock on Sunday morning the wind increased into a fierce, howling gale. While the gale came from that direction, no apprehensions were felt for the safety of the vessels, as the river did not get very rough. However, about 5 o'clock, it chopped suddenly around and blew like a tornado, directly from the northwest. The change in that direction wrought a wonderful change in the river. As one furious gust followed another, the white caps began to fly, and the bosom of the Columbia was broken up like a chopped sea. Waves, from ten to twelve feet high, began to roll and break along the shore like an angry surf. Far as the eye could reach, looking seaward, nothing could be seen but an angry, tossing expanse of water, while above the roar of the waves as they chased each other in mad fury, could be heard the hoarse bellowing of the storm. Against the contending elements the vessels were powerless, and drifted about completely at the mercy of wind and wave. Soon after the wind shifted, the Corsica began to drift toward the shore, dragging her anchor. All efforts to stay the vessel proved abortive, and she continued to drag anchor until she was beached. The Ada Lilly followed the example of the Corsica, and soon began to drift toward the shore. She ran into the Corsica, carrying away the latter vessel's main yard, jib-boom, foremast head, and doing considerable other damage. The Ada Lilly was also considerably damaged by being scraped and battered from the collision. At length, when the wind abated, the vessels were separated and escaped further damage. Meantime the bark Rival was blown ashore, but contrived to get off again, only to be driven against one of the wharves, where she had her jib-boom carried away, and also the catheads. The ship Lennox Castle did not escape without damage. This vessel was securely moored alongside the dock, but the wind and water chafed her side so violently against the wharf that the planks on the hull were worn almost through. The damage can easily be repaired, but it will require several hundred dollars to put the vessel in as good condition as before the storm. The steamer Emma Hayward, which was lying at the wharf, was handled very roughly, and received some damages. When the gale reached its highest the lines parted, and the boat began to reel and stagger like a drunken man. An anchor chain was thrown out and fastened to the wharf several times, but so violent was the wind that it parted like thread. When the storm came on the precaution was taken to raise steam, but it was of no possible avail. One moment the wheel would be four or five feet out of water and the next minute it would be buried clear to the shaft. While pitching and plunging about the prow of the steamer struck against the wharf, tearing away the stem and doing other damage. The boat was tossed about like a feather, and the crew were not able to stand upright without holding to the sides of the cabin. To prevent the cabin from being smashed to pieces it was found necessary to turn the chairs and tables over. At length, to the inexpressible joy of all, the welcome light of day came, and soon after the violence of the gale subsided. It will probably require several thousand dollars to make good the damage sustained by the shipping in a few hours. All unite in declaring that it was the most severe gale which has been experienced at Astoria for many years.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

"Solon Shingle" to-morrow.

Great quantities of drift wood are passing.

County taxes will be declared delinquent after to-morrow.

Spelling matches are now the rage in the East. Wonder if it will break out here.

A house in the north end of the city was nearly toppled over by the high winds the other night.

Lunch will be served at Good Templar Hall, to-day, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock. The public are invited.

Stephen Maybell's drama, entitled "Roughing It," will be produced during the stay of Mr. Herne, at the new theater.

The Archangel comes to our table enlarged. It is filled with choice reading matter, and presents a very handsome appearance.

During the terrible gale at Astoria on Sunday morning, the ship Corsica lost two anchors, in addition to receiving other damage.

The Spirit of the West says: "A garrison court martial was convened on the 20th inst., of which Capt. McC. Netterville was president."

Upholsterers and paper-hangers are beginning to take up the business where the plumbers left off, and people who have houses might as well surrender unconditionally.

If a young man industriously inclined turns out at daylight and skips to business at an unusually early hour, foolish people who meet him on the street imagine he is hunting a cocktail; while if he is late, the boss credits him with dissipating the previous night.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

A. McKee, drunk; fined $10, and in default committed to jail for three days.

A man giving his name as Chas. Collins was committed to the county jail for 90 days.

Chas. Baker, arrested for being drunk and disorderly; fined $5; paid and discharged.

John Smith, for being gathered up carefully from the sidewalk, where he had quietly deposited himself for a snooze, was fined $5, which he liquidated.

Ah Gee was called upon to answer the charge of stealing a box of raisins from the W. R. T. Co.'s wharf. He was found guilty and sentenced to the county jail for 30 days.

Zed Wilson was tried on a charge of committing assault and battery and found guilty. He was fined $20 and costs. Impecuniosity was the trouble, and Wilson went to the county jail for 20 days.

Five boys—Henry Mitchell, Barney Nation, Henry Elkeles, Chas. Brown and Albert Martin—were each fined $5 for conducting themselves in a disorderly manner by fighting. Each defendant paid and was discharged.

Ben. Harris, Stephen Painter and John Edwards, were each arraigned yesterday morning on a charge of drunkenness. The two former were fined $10 each and the latter $5. They were all committed to jail in default of payment.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Mr. J. H. Fisk has returned from the Eastern States and is fully prepared to attend to the wants of those desirous of having minerals, etc., assayed. See card.

SOMETHING NEW.

The new style of promenade photographs. These beautiful pictures are now made at Bosco & Megler's new rooms, Nos. 127 and 129, First street. Call and examine them.

The Oriflamme brought a large invoice of Goods for Beck & Waldman, and additional lots will arrive on the steamer to arrive next week. This enterprising firm keep their stock well assorted, and for that reason they have a continuous run of customers who know this and of course are always able to find something new in the clothing line. Besides their varied stock of men's clothing and furnishing goods the firm keep a well selected stock of youth's suits which every fond parent should call and see before making purchases. You will find them at the old corner always ready to serve the public.

Multitudes of People require an Alterative, to restore the healthy action of their systems and correct the derangements that creep into it. Sarsaparillas were used and valued, until several impositions were palmed off upon the public under this name. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is no imposition.

A NOTABLE MANSION.

We have been furnished the following by a well-known lady who occupied a high social position in Portland. This interesting article is copied from the lady's diary, and relates to the history of the residence recently purchased by Mrs. Holladay in Washington for the sum of $55,000. The writer was present at the great social event, which she so graphically describes:

The mansion, 1,310 K street, Washington, formerly the residence of Franklin Philp, Esq., an English publisher, was recently purchased by Mrs. Holladay, of this city. Many charming recollections hover around this domicile as being the residence of the High Joint Commission whilst negotiating for the adjustment of the Alabama claims in our country during the winters of 1870-71.

The commission was composed of men bearing the highest rank and titles in England. The Earl de Grey and Ripon, whose estates are said to be the greatest of any landed proprietor, and whose recent departure from the church of England to the Romanish faith, has created a sensation throughout the entire Christian world, particularly as he had received the highest degree of Masonry. His son, Lord Goderich, about 20 years of age, accompanied by his tutor, Mr. Crammer, formed part of the pleasure party. Lord Tenterden, member of Parliament, Sir Stafford Northcote, chancellor of the exchequer, and his son the same age as Lord Goderich, with Sir Montague Bernard, who although the eldest and most sedate of the party, was not less agreeable.

Upon their arrival the gay season at the Capital was just inaugurated, and they at once by their genial manners became such favorites, that society vied in rendering homage, breakfasts, dinners and fetes followed with such rapidity that the gay ones thoroughly wearied, sighed in relief when Ash Wednesday arrived bringing the welcome rest. The night of Shrove Tuesday had been appointed by the commission for a grand reception at their residence to return the thousand and one civilities bestowed upon them, although they had quite fulfilled their duty in giving social breakfasts and dinners, having brought with them a retinue of English servants, and those who have spent any time abroad will bear witness to the value of foreign domestics over our own, but unfortunately like many other productions, after transplanting they degenerate fearfully.

The evening of the ball was close at hand, and all the modistes were busy, days before, in devising new toilettes, for although the close of the season, every lady desired a fresh costume to honor the august occasion, and evince the esteem entertained for each member of the commission. At length the bright anticipation of weeks was about to be realized, the night was quite cold and clear. A long line of carriages extending several blocks (and carefully watched by policemen to avoid all confusion), would move slowly up to the doorway, deposit its fair freight, and quietly face on the opposite side. Then under an awning hung with lanterns, the guests would ascend the softly carpeted steps, the doors were thrown open, revealing a dazzling blaze of light, and you were ushered amid strains of softest music, and air redolent with perfumes from the garlands entwining the staircase, chandeliers, windows, pictures, statues, and every imaginable object which could be draped in flowers, many having been sent from Baltimore, the city being unable to furnish such profusion. After reaching, amid the dense throng, the dressing rooms, and awaiting your turn to be relieved of outside wrappings, exchanging a few compliments with friends relative to toilets, etc., commenced the descent to the drawing-rooms. Never can the writer forget or describe the almost bewildering scene of enchantment upon entering! It recalled some of the Arabian Nights' scenes. The rooms were decorated in the most artistic manner with beautiful flowers, whilst the number of lights and mirrors lent brilliancy to the toilets of the ladies and the glittering uniforms of the ambassadors and diplomats, all in court dress, the Earl de Grey bearing, among other insignia, the Order of the Garter, seldom seen in our country, whilst the army and navy uniforms, less gaudy but quite as elegant, rendered the scene brilliant beyond description.

But the grandest feature was the winter garden! All the windows from the drawing rooms opened to the floor, and from each of these were arranged flights of steps descending to the garden, which resembled Aladin's Palace more than anything real. The entire grounds and those adjoining had been enclosed and hung with drawing-room paper; gas jets flaming forth from evergreens; brilliant chandeliers suspended from the ceiling; the walks covered with soft carpets; and the grass just assuming the beautiful verdure of spring, was planted with pots of the most exquisite exotics from the Executive Mansion, botanical gardens and private nurseries, making the entire parterre seem fairy land. Suspended from the different branches among the trees were gorgeous Chinese lanterns, and gilded cages filled with singing birds, whilst here and there a fairy fountain (arranged temporarily, but so artistic in effect, you imagined the nymphs had bathed there) threw up its crystal drops which sparkled in the brilliant light like diamonds. Several little rocky grottos, room just for two, were always occupied whilst the less sentimental were threading the mazy labyrinth of the walks or dance. At the farther end was arranged a dais for the musicians, and passing that came the supper room, where such a display of epicurian wonders met the view, a Lucullus might have found satiety.

After encroaching somewhat upon Ash Wednesday, the weary ones began silently to disperse and revel in dreams over the blissful reality. So like all things bright and lovely, ended the ball of the English ambassadors, and in a fortnight they were en route for "Merrie old England."

'Tis said all houses have a legend as well as skeleton, could they be revealed, but I doubt whether many have clustered around them such bright and pleasant memories as this one.

IN MEMORIAM.

At a meeting of the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society the following resolutions of respect to the memory of the late William P. Burke were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty God, in His Divine Providence, to call to His eternal rest our dear friend and countryman, the late Wm. P. Burke; therefore, be it

Resolved, That by his decease we have lost a good and tried friend, and the society a useful member and kind benefactor.

Resolved, That by his death his country has lost a true patriot, one who was ever ready both by heart and hand to assist in every effort for the benefit of Ireland and the advancement of his countrymen.

Resolved, That we sympathize with the bereaved family in this hour of their affliction for the loss of a good and faithful husband and a kind, indulgent father.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the Daily Bulletin, Sunday Welcome, OREGONIAN and Catholic Sentinel.

The Best Protection.

The best safeguards against epidemic disease are thorough digestion and firm nerves. It is because they assure the regular performance of the digestive process, and invigorate the nervous system, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are such a sovereign protective against the influences which beget intermittent maladies, and those which directly affect the stomach and bowels. If the nerves are healthfully tranquil, the assimulation of food perfect, as they are sure to be under the influence of this standard tonic and nervine, malaria may be defied, and if, in the absence of the most reliable of medical safeguards, the system has fallen a prey to disease of an intermittent or remittent type, the Bitters will, if persisted in, eradicate every vestige of the malady. Billiousness, constipation and dyspepsia yield with equal certainty to the operation of this potent vegetable alterative.

BE WISE IN TIME.

Consumption is a disease that the victims seldom believe in until too late. It is one of the surest symptoms of the malady, for the patient to insist that the cough "amounts to nothing"—that there is no danger. Beware of this fatal incredulity. Stop the cough before it reaches a fatal point, with that most wonderful of all pulmonics, HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR. Even when half the lungs is gone, it may save the other half and prolong life.

PIKE'S TOOTH-ACHE DROPS—Cure in one minute.

Save Your Doctor's Bill.—When Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry will CURE coughs, colds, bleeding at the lungs, and arrest the fell destroyer, Consumption, it does more than most physicians can do. The use of a single bottle will satisfy the incredulous that they need look no further for the required aid.

BE YOUR OWN DOCTOR.

Save yourself many dollars in money and many pangs of pain by keeping PRATT'S ABOLITION OIL constantly on hand and using it for all lameness and pain. The great popularity of our ABOLITION OIL is owing to the fact that we spare neither labor nor expense in preparing it. We always have and always shall keep it up to its original standard of unparalleled excellence. ABOLITION OIL cures rheumatism, gout, sprains, stiff and swollen joints, bruises, neuralgia, lame back, pleurisy, sciatica, sore throat, cramps, colic, cholera morbus, diarrhoea, nervous head-ache, tooth-ache, ear ache and all aches and pains internal and external. THE CAT-O'-NINE TAILS.

FLOGGING IN THE ENGLISH PENAL COLONIES—A MUSCULAR EXECUTIONER—LAYING THE BLOWS ON WITH A SWISH—LASHING A BOY.

[From the Auckland (N. Z.) Herald.]

I obtained an order from the Governor of the jail to be present, a few weeks ago, while three prisoners who were undergoing sentence received punishment. The doctor was there too, but beyond a few casual remarks that passed nothing was said. I looked around, and at a glance saw the machinery—if it may be called so—which formed the sole furniture of the yard. On the right stood a small wooden kind of shop, which, with the opposite wall of the jail yard, formed a narrow recess. In this stood the triangles, round about which the ground was void of grass and green with damp. The triangles are horribly suggestive things to look at, three leaning poles converging at the top, and firmly planted in the ground. Two of them face out into the yard, their bases being in the same straight line. Across these and between them lies a broad board, pierced with holes, through which a strap hung loosely down. Higher up on each pole was a similar strap, and another at the foot of each again. On the left stood the powerful fellow—who, I learned, was the public executioner—stripped to his shirt, which was rolled up on his arms, and displayed an extraordinary mass of sinew and strength. Beside him, on the ground, was a box in which were ranged the instruments of punishment—the "cat-o'-nine-tails." There were several of different sizes—long, knotted, white-thonged things, with short handles like a stock whip, only covered with cloth to keep them from slipping in the hand.

THE FIRST VICTIM.

Turning to a warder the Governor gave some order, and the next moment a man was let in through the iron gate, which closed behind him. He was a middle-aged, hard-featured fellow, with a sullen face made more repulsive by being clean shaved. "This is the first time," the Governor whispered to me, adding the offence for which he was convicted and sentenced to be flogged. The man looked at the executioner for a moment, and at his order commenced to strip. Divesting himself of his hat, coat, and shirt, he was led to the triangles and the strap passed round his wrists, ankles, and waist. It was impossible to move. He shuddered for a moment as the cold air swept along the yard. "Twenty-five," cried the warder, standing by, and the executioner took up one of the heaviest "cats" from among those in the box. Standing about six feet behind the prisoner a little to the left, he passed his fingers through the nine tails of the whip, which, with a rapid movement, he then brought across his chest, high up above his head, with a horrible "swish," and down with the whole force of his arm and weight upon the culprit's back. There was a shriek of agony, and in livid blue lines like cords the flesh stood out upon the poor wretch's shoulders. "One!" cried the warder, and again the cat swung high up in the air to descend a second time. The piteous moaning which followed the first blow gave place to another shriek intense and long. The deep blue lines turned red, the blood oozed through a dozen different cuts, and the skin began to peel in strips along the back. "Two!" and again the terrible instrument came down. Shriek after shriek rent the air. The sight was sickening—horrible. As each blow was dealt the prisoner writhed in agony at the triangles, and when the lash fell for the last time, and the straps were loosed that held him, he turned away faint, weak, scarcely recognizable as human, disgraced and marked for life.

AN OLD OFFENDER.

His place was soon reoccupied by another, whose appealing, terrified looks told only too plainly what he suffered. He would have resisted were it of any use. He had been there before, knew what it was, and would have almost given life to be reprieved. Stripped and strapped to the triangles, unlike the prisoner before him, he turned his head over his shoulder and watched the executioner. There were the old marks of a former flogging on his back—black spots and lines—left there six months before. He tried to be brave, and bear it; but it was no good; the "swish" sounded once more, the horrid, knotted cords swept cuttingly across his back, and with a burst of agony he broke out in long-continued shrieks. One of his legs got twisted with cramp. He tried to stay the lash for a minute—anything for time—anything for one moment of peace. But there was none; the pitiless lash descended till the sentence was carried through. Then, when it was over, he went away, muttering thanks to God, as with bent form and tottering steps they led him to the cells. It was the last time he would enter that yard—and that was his sole relief.

A BOY IN AGONY.

There was one more victim—a mere lad, sixteen years of age. I had heard him convicted the day before in court for an offence he could scarcely know the nature of. He was a good-looking little fellow, with a clear skin and bright blue eyes. He looked upon it all as a thrashing at schools, walked forward with a light, jaunty step, and stripped as coolly as if he were going to plunge into the river. They strapped him up, and then there came the order once again, "Twenty-five." The executioner took up a lighter cat, with thinner thongs than those he had used before. It whistled for a moment in the air, and then the fair, white skin of the boy was waled, and livid, and blue. There was a sudden jerk of the body, a quick drawing of the breath, that made a chest expand and the ribs stand out more prominent. A second blow and still no cry. He was game, and would see it out. At the third the pent-up suffering burst out, and with a yell I shall never forget, the lad's head was thrown back, and he wrenched at the wrist straps till they almost cut the flesh upon his arms. Once more—another blow—again—each followed by heart-rending cries. Another—"For God's sake! Oh, Christ! God! Let me go!" There was a quick, choking, gasping sound. His head fell back, and all was silent save for a horrible sugging in the throat as each blow fell upon his streaming back. They loosened the straps and led him from the yard scarcely conscious. Thank God it was over. "So that is how they flog," said I. "Yes; it isn't pleasant, is it?" and we left the place.

The winter seems to have been a pretty hard one in the Ochoco country. The snow got to be five inches deep along the rivers and in the valleys, and all the stock that run on the bottoms had to be fed. The stock out on the hills did tolerably well. The loss of cattle will amount to ten per cent., mostly old cows that had suckled calves during the summer and fall. Horses did first rate. Sheep that were taken out there last fall fared very badly. A Mr. Coon started in last fall with 800 head, and so far has lost only 720 head, and will probably lose the remainder before summer. There are other bands that have been in the country for some time in which the losses will not exceed three per cent.

The latest wheat quotations from Liverpool are of the 27th. Average California, ex warehouse, 9s 2d per cental.

Our dispatches from New York, of to-day, quote gold as closing at 116⅝, which is an advance of ⅜, and the highest point reached for many months. This indicates that the gold ring has at least partially succeeded in counteracting the tendency to a decline which it was thought would be permanent, owing to heavy receipt of specie from Canada, England and the Pacific coast.

Local finances manifest but little this early in the week on which comment is necessary. There is a fair amount of inquiry for loanable funds on real estate security, while prime commercial paper is in request and but a comparatively small amount in the aggregate is offering. The outlook, on the whole, is not unpromising, and the surplus balances, which are comfortably large in the various city banks, will doubtless find customers at living rates, before the season closes. But at present the money supply, which includes a good deal offered by outside parties, is ample to satisfy the current requirements of the country.

In trade matters it is claimed that the week opens quite auspiciously, though the number of buyers in the market to-day is not large. A fair inquiry exists for goods suitable for the spring trade from mercantile localities in the upper portions of this valley, Southern Oregon and east of the Cascades. The prospect that steamboat communication to Wallula is soon to be resumed has a tendency to stimulate business a good deal, as some orders from that direction are already at hand, and others are anticipated as soon as transportation can be had.

The produce market is substantially in the same condition as at the close of last week, the inquiry for wheat and oats being perhaps a little more brisk, while flour is offering freely at our quotations. Transactions in provisions are limited as is usual on the first day of the week. The arrival of two vessels at Astoria to load wheat, and the charter of another at the same point, creates a little more animation in the market, but in the main features it is unchanged.

The Wheat Market.

This market is quotable at $1 40 per cental for fair grades of shipping wheat, at which some lots are being offered, but the aggregate of purchases is not large. There are those who assert a belief that $1 66⅔ per cental will be the price before harvest, but we confess that howsoever desirable such an event might be, we can see no good reason to hope for it. Latest advices from San Francisco and Liverpool denote no important change in those markets, and we attribute the present firm tone of ours to the fact of a number of vessels being at hand and about due, all under arrangements to load, but of those in the river now it is claimed that the cargoes are already secured. The Sussex, Lennox Castle and Pactolus will all load within the next fortnight, and will carry a total of about 165,000 bushels. The Arauco will also, probably, load—four, which, with the cargo of the La Escocesa, will carry enough to make the equivalent of the cargoes of the five vessels named equivalent to 225,000 bushels of wheat. There is, perhaps, a surplus in the State purchaseable over and above the amount required to load these vessels, of 400,000 to 500,000 bushels, and a prospect of full enough tonnage to carry it all.

Shipping Intelligence.

The sailing of the Telfair for Sitka was again postponed until to-morrow.

The British ship Pactolus, under charter to load wheat at Astoria, is reported outside the bar. She will be dispatched by Henry Hewett & Co.

The British bark Lennox Castle was to have begun loading wheat at Astoria this morning.

The bark Rival and schooner Dreadnought are on their way up the river, and will probably arrive to-night.

The schooner Superior and barkentine Portland are on route from San Francisco for Portland, with assorted cargoes.

The British ship Sussex has been chartered to load wheat at Astoria. She will be loaded by Messrs. Corbitt & Macleay on account of charterers.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—Receipts of this cereal by boat are large, but most of it is purchased prior to arrival. Quotations are given to-day at $1 40 per cental for fair grades of shipping. The offerings in this market are but few, and mostly made at an advance on current quotations.

FLOUR—There is no change in quotations. Shipments to San Francisco and to ports to the north are still large. We quote at $4 25@4 50 ℔ barrel for jobbing lots of standard extras; $4 for good outside and country brands, and $3 50@3 75 for superfine.

OATS—There seems to be a weaker tendency in the market, and good to choice lots are not quotable at more than 45@46c ℔ bushel. We notice sales of 4,000 bushels at the latter figure.

BARLEY—The demand is fair for local consumption, but receipts very light. Quotable nominally at $1 25 ℔ hundred lbs for good feed and $1 35@1 40 for choice brewing.

MILL FEED—Owing to the fact that a number of country mills have suspended work, this article has become scarce and bran is entirely out of the market and nominally quotable at an advance of $1 per ton; other descriptions firm but unchanged.

HAY—Is still in moderate request at $10@11 per ton for timothy, with a decline in the receipts. Wild hay finds slow sale at $7@7 50.

POTATOES—There is a fair demand for good lots for shipment at 72½@75c per bushel, the range of quotations being 70@75c.

ONIONS—The demand is rather duller again, and $1@1 25 are given as buyers' figures.

APPLES RIPE—Receipts, though decreasing in quantity, are larger than was anticipated at the time of the freeze. Quotations are now 75c@$1 per box, best qualities, assorted and neatly packed for shipment.

APPLES DRIED—The trade is inactive, but prices are nominally steady at 6c ℔ lb in sacks, and 6c in kegs.

BACON—Shipments are being made of the surplus in this market to San Francisco, where prices are also down to an unprofitable figure. Our quotations for sides are 11@12c ℔ lb, hams 13@15c, shoulders 8@9c. Receipts are not very large so far this week.

LARD—There is a fair demand for good quality in tins and kegs, quotable at 14c ℔ lb in the former, and 13c in kegs.

BUTTER—The market is bare of choice lots and short on all saleable qualities. We quote at 40c per lb for best rolls, and 30@35c for common.

EGGS—Receipts are lighter, and we quote at 18c per dozen.

CHICKENS—Good lots quotable at $4 50; choice, $4 75@5 per dozen; common, $3 75@4 25.

DRESSED HOGS—The packing season having closed, the only demand is for the home trade and is not brisk at 6@6½c ℔ lb.

BEEF CATTLE—There have been but few arrivals of choice lots during the past week, and for such, prices have advanced to 6@6½ cts ℔ lb net on foot; ordinary quotable at 5@5½c.

MUTTON SHEEP—There are very few lots offering, and choice are worth $3 25@3 75 ℔ head, and some at the extreme of $4.

HIDES AND FURS—A duller demand for shipping purposes prevails and receipts are light. We quote for choice dry 16½c ℔ lb; green salted, 7c; green, 6½c; culls, 10@12; elk, 22c ℔ lb; deer, 18@35c ℔ lb dried, and 50@75c apiece green; mink skins each, $1@1 50; otter, $2@5; beaver, 75c@$1.

WOOL—Very few transactions are taking place; best grades quotable at 20@22c ℔ lb; common to fair lots 16@18c.

General Merchandise.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS—Trade is quiet and prices for seasonable goods firm at current quotations. Mitchell Wagons, $120@145; Bain, 3-inch to 4-inch thimble skein, $130 to $160; Pacific do, $120@150. Seasonable Goods are in full supply.

BAGS AND BAGGING—Burlap, standard, 12½@13c; Flour, qr sks, 9½@10c; hf sks, 15@15½c; Grain, 10½ oz, 22x36, 14@15c; Oat, 23x40, 14@15c; 28x36, 16@16c; Flax Seed, 21x36, 15c; Wool, 3½ lbs, 40x90, 60@65; Burlaps, 40 inch, 10, 10½, 11, 11½ and 12 oz, 10@12c; Seaming Twine, 3 ply, flax, 40@45c; Roping, 5 ply, flax and jute, 40@45; 4-4 Dutch Carpeting and Matting, 25c; Table Baizes, 10-yard lengths, wood and bronze patterns, $6 per piece.

Premium Carriage Factory
E. SMITH,
CARRIAGE MAKER,
Cor. Jefferson and Front Streets,
PORTLAND, OREGON,
Is now making First-Class EXPRESS WAGONS, BUGGIES and CARRIAGES of all kinds.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

At the Oregon State Fair, recently held at Salem, Mr. E. Smith was awarded the First Premiums on an Open and also on a Top Buggy. The latter was built from a design published in the June number of The Carriage Monthly, styled "Monitor Piano-Box Buggy," and elicited much admiration.—The Philadelphia Carriage Monthly.

Mr. E. SMITH, of Portland, has on exhibition at the State Fair two Buggies; both Open and Top, and certainly exhibit as good workmanship as can be found on the Coast, while several very important Improvements have been added, especially in ironing the same so as not to weaken the axles, by putting the bolts through the same. The commendable enterprise that Mr. Smith has displayed, we understand, is being amply rewarded in our city. He will no awarded the first Premium.—Oregonian.

Mr. E. SMITH, Carriage Maker, of Portland, exhibited one Open and one Covered Buggy upon the Fair Grounds, which deserve special mention. These Carriages are especially light and durable, and those in need of such a purchase—and who isn't—should call upon him before purchasing elsewhere. Of course Mr. Smith bore off the blue ribbons.—New Northwest.

Mr. E. SMITH, Carriage Maker, corner of Front and Jefferson streets, took two Premiums at the State Fair for First-Class Buggies. This speaks well for his work, and is a credit to Portland.—Pacific Christian Advocate.

HOME MANUFACTURE.—Mr. E. Smith, Carriage Maker, of this city, has some splendid Vehicles on exhibition at the Fair.—Temperance Star.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long-continued series of marvellous cures that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY & COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, by long and extensive use has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately, often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the Vigor is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.
